$52,000 deficit created as Dixon School Board approves programs

By LENNY INGRASSIA

Dixon School Board members have approved additional programs and the purchase of needed supplies and equipment, the cost of which creates a $52,000 deficit in the Educational Fund. The action was taken Wednesday night as members approved plans for the coming school year.

The projected deficit is based upon revenues of $4.7 million, which includes additional monies yet to be received from the passage of an 85-cent tax referendum last Spring. The $52,000 deficit is based upon programs added and supplies only and does not take into account any increase in teachers' salaries for the 1975-76 school year.

In a session which lasted nearly five hours, members approved expenditures of $178,000, including a partial affiliation with Whiteside Area Vocational Center, and the reinstatement of the general shop program at Dixon High School.

Programs approved were:
Health Education at DHS—$10,000
Expanded Outdoor Education—$9,090
Educable Mentally Handicapped class at DHS—$8,000
Elementary athletics—$10,000

General Shop and Home Economics at DHS—$40,000
Additional capital outlay—$54,000
Additional supplies—$36,000

In addition to the above, the board had already approved a $20,000 expenditure for an additional teacher and three teacher aides at the elementary level.

The approximate $198,000 expenditure from the expanded programs was approved despite funds available of only $146,000.

The supplies and capital outlay amounts approved will go for replacement of equipment at schools throughout the district and includes such items as desks, chairs and classroom teaching aids. Attempts to approve the expense in past years had been unsuccessful because funds were not available. School supplies were said to be depleted.

Approval of a health education course at DHS was proposed by Merrill Hughes, assistant superintendent—curriculum. The freshman level course will deal with family life and sex education. Hughes termed present efforts to meet the soon-to-be required state course as minimal. Approved funds will go toward the hiring of a full-time health education instructor.

The Outdoor Education program was expanded to include sixth grade youngsters in a resident outdoor program. Costs to establish the program, which calls for a three-day, two-night trek away from home, was estimated at $9,090 by Hughes, who termed the program "a high priority item at the elementary level."

Hughes also got approval to change the location of daytime outdoor programs from Stronghold near Oregon to a site near Mt. Morris, Camp Emmaus. He cited increased costs at Stronghold for requesting the change.

The WAVC affiliation, although offered to a limited number of students at DHS, was approved up to a maximum expenditure of $10,000 and coincides with a beefed up general shop program. Set-up costs for the shop were estimated at $40,000.

Hughes projected that 10 students would be transported to WAVC during the first year. Cost for each student to the Sterling center will be $475, not including transportation costs. "The students will be selected through a screening process," Hughes said.

In the elementary athletic program, the board approved the addition of girls' volleyball, basketball and track teams and maintained the present sports for boys. Also contained in the proposal was the formation of an athletic council.

At the high school level, the board approved maintaining all present athletic course offerings, with the exception of fencing. One addition was made, a boys' bowling team.

No decision was made on the possible dropping of low-enrollment specialty courses at DHS. The board instructed Supt. of Schools Stanley Weber to prepare a list of courses, geared to the college-bound student, which could be dropped.

Neil Petersen expressed concern over keeping the courses with enrollments of less than 10 students. "I feel we should get rid of these high cost programs to better utilize the staff and the space we have," he said.

An alternate plan to allow students to receive independent study credit was being studied. Under such a program, the student would be assigned to a teacher who would be paid for each student served. The amount of pay is currently under negotiation with the Dixon Teacher's Association and the Board.

Some of the programs affected by the cut would be advanced electronics, meteorology, advanced French and Latin, shorthand and printing.

Ford warning to labor unions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration warns there will be fewer jobs and more inflation if labor unions press for higher wages than the recession-weakened economy can afford.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability noted that wage increases lagged behind price increases last year, but said it attempts to recover this loss in 1975 could be counter-productive.

At the same time, Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop warned of a wave of strikes in the depressed construction industry unless labor and management show restraint at the bargaining table.

Dunlop said negotiators should "look to their longer-run interests rather than to press immediate and short-run interests to the hilt" if the industry hopes to recover from its worst downturn since the 1930s.

Meanwhile, presidential adviser L. William Seidman said today the administration plans to help business attract new investment capital with measures including changes in the tax structure for business.

But Seidman, in a convention speech to the National Association of Manufacturers, said no new measures are planned to help stimulate the economy, which he said should begin recovering from the recession later in the year.

"This is now the time to stand back and observe what has been done and what is happening without further major stimulative actions," he said.

In its quarterly report for the President and the Congress, the wage-price council said wage increases negotiated last year, combined with the recent drop in productivity in the economy, will increase inflationary pressures in 1975 and 1976.

"There seems to be a growing recognition that the current severe recession is not the appropriate time for precedent-setting wage increases," it said.

Bill to liberalize law on marijuana offered

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Legislation which would give Illinois the most lenient law in the nation on the private use of marijuana was introduced today in the General Assembly.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Leland Rayson, D-Tinley Park, would remove criminal penalties for the private smoking of pot. In addition, it would make public smoking a misdemeanor, but retain the penalties for selling marijuana.

"I have introduced this legislation for one specific purpose—to help ease the already overburdened criminal justice system by placing less of an emphasis on the prosecution of a victimless crime," Rayson said at a news conference.

The 53-year-old lawmaker said he had never smoked pot.

"I hate the smell of it," he said.

The measure, drafted by the Illinois State Bar Association, would be even more lenient than the 1973 Oregon law, which maintains a maximum fine of $100 for possession of one ounce or less, Rayson said.

"This bill does not legalize marijuana," Rayson said. "Decriminalization pertains only to the user."

"We are attempting to continue the present policy of discouragement while focusing law enforcement efforts on the trafficker," Rayson said. "In this way, society can maintain pressure on the illegal market and police resources can be concentrated against the seller."

Absentee voting in city election sets brisk pace

If the number of absentee ballots is any indication, the voting in Tuesday's city election will be heavy.

City Clerk Mary Cook said this morning a total of 273 absentee ballots had already been filed. She reminded voters the City Hall will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, the last day for absentee balloting in person.

The absentee total is almost seven times greater than in the primary election Feb. 25, when 40 absentee votes were cast.

The 273 absentees represent almost 15 per cent of the total of 1,842 ballots cast in the primary election. A precinct map, location of polling places, pictures of the candidates and their platforms appear on page 12 of today's edition of The Telegraph.

Election for school boards in the area and members of the Sauk Valley College Board of Trustees will be Saturday. The Sauk Valley Board hopefuls and their views are on page 13 today. Wednesday's edition of The Telegraph carried the Dixon School Board candidates.

Complying with a court order, Dixon School Board members have voted to reinstate current teacher contracts held void by Associate Judge Martin D. Hill. The March 5 ruling was part of an eight-page order by Judge Hill who found former board member Mrs. Judith Willard in conflict of interest with her teacher-husband.

She has since submitted her resignation to the board and, in an unexpected move, appealed the lower court ruling to the Second District Appellate Court in Elgin. Her resignation, considered final, was placed on file during Wednesday night board action.

Mrs. Willard's appeal was expected to be ruled on within 90 days. The board went into executive session, shortly after midnight, to discuss a replacement for Mrs. Willard.

The teacher salaries were first ratified on Oct. 16, 1974, giving teachers a $9,100 base salary. In making his ruling, Judge Hill held that Mrs. Willard became one of her husband's employers. The complaint was filed after the Dixon Evening Telegraph brought the matter to the attention of State's Atty. Patrick E. Ward.

In regular board action, a resolution was approved authorizing payment of the Dixon School District share of a $600,000 expansion program at Elmhurst School. Board member Neil Petersen, who serves on the executive committee of the Lee County Special Education Association, emphasized that the expenditure will require no new tax.

He explained revenues already received from 1973 tax bills will go toward payment of the Dixon share, estimated at 55 per cent of the total cost. Five other area school district comprise the special education district along with Dixon.

The L-shaped addition will double the space available at the facility and will house additional classroom and office space.

Spring athletic transportation bids were approved and awarded to Arnold Butterbaugh, the sole bidder.

The board approved procedures for employment of a principal for Grand Detour and South Central schools. Contained in the procedure was the formation of a three-man screening committee to narrow the qualified candidates to three. Committee members are Merrill Hughes, assistant superintendent-curriculum, and principals Larry Taylor and Jack Hillyer.

The committee recommendations will go before the full board for final selection.

The position will be advertised within the school district and throughout university placement offices. In addition to heading the two elementary schools, the person selected will also operate the regular summer school program, administer the elementary boys and girls athletic programs and serve as liaison with the Nachusa Lutheran Home.

In other action the board approved the resignations of Frances Schumm, music instructor at Jefferson School, and Ruth Schreiner, fifth grade teacher at Washington. Both resignations become effective at the end of the school year.

Battle for Viet provincial capital near Saigon rages

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Fighting for Xuan Loc, the provincial capital 40 miles east of Saigon, raged on today and government officials claimed another North Vietnamese attack was repulsed. Other sources reported heavy fighting outside the city.

Military analysts said it was still too soon to say whether the repeated attacks on Xuan Loc, capital of Long Khanh Province, were the prelude to a drive on Saigon. Nor could they say whether the resistance being shown by the defenders of the city meant that the South Vietnamese army was stiffening after the debacle that cost it three-fourths of the country and would now stand fast and fight.

On the political front, police broke up a small antigovernment demonstration by about 30 Buddhist youths in suburban Gia Dinh city. The protesters carried banners calling for President Nguyen Van Thieu to resign and an end to the draft. They passed out leaflets reading: "Vietnamese lives must not be exchanged for American dollars."

In other Indochina developments: —South Vietnam will allow 219 more Vietnamese orphans to be airlifted to the United States on Friday, said Betty Tisdale of Columbus, Ga., who has been lobbying for the airlift for two days. "I am not going to let the Communists have these children," she added.

—South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Vuong Van Bac flew to Saudi Arabia on Thieu's instructions and will meet Saturday with King Khaled and hold meetings with Saudi leaders "on matters concerning the two nations," the official Vietnam Press said. No other details were given.

—Cambodian rebels broke through government defense lines and moved to within two miles of Phnom Penh airport, military sources said. Six more U.S. Marines arrived in Phnom Penh from Bangkok to strengthen the security force at the U.S. Embassy and one source said more Marines aboard a carrier in the Gulf of Thailand might be landed if chaos breaks out in Phnom Penh. Rebel shelling killed three cargo handlers and wounded eight others at the airport and suspended the rice airlift into Phnom Penh for five hours but it later resumed.

—Cambodian President Lon Nol flew from Bali to Hawaii for medical treatment. He left Phnom Penh on April 1 in hopes his departure would create a climate for peace talks with the Communist-led Khmer Rouge. Sources close to Cambodian Premier Long Boret confirmed earlier reports he met an insurgent delegation in Bangkok on Monday night to discuss peace negotiations, possibly starting in two months.

—Communist-led rebels launched a major ground assault against government forces in northern Thailand, killing 16 government soldiers and wounding 20, officials in Bangkok said.

—In neighboring Laos, the Pathet Lao insisted that Laos recognize the Viet Cong and the government of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, nominal leader of the Cambodian rebels, but government sources said the cabinet postponed its decision on the matter.

President Ford was expected to ask the U.S. Congress in a major foreign policy speech tonight for more humanitarian and military aid for Indochina. In answer to a charge by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Ford reportedly told congressional leaders Wednesday that there are "no private agreements" between the United States and South Vietnam.

But White House press secretary Ron Nessen in effect 70n-firmed Jackson's charge of secret agreements between the Nixon administration and President Nguyen Van Thieu's government, although he said they were only what Nixon was saying in public at the time. He said Nixon had assured Saigon leaders in "confidential exchanges" prior to the signing of the 1973 peace agreement that the United States would "react vigorously" to major violations of the agreement. But he added that American military reaction had been ruled out by Congress later in 1973.

Hundreds of refugees fled from Xuan Loc southward along Highway 1 as South Vietnamese planes and helicopter gunships bombed and strafed suspected North Vietnamese positions. Checkpoints were set up on the highway to control the flow of refugees while local authorities set up temporary receiving centers to shelter them.

Five miles south of Xuan Loc, South Vietnamese armored troops and rangers fought their way into a village on the highway while militiamen and police halted the tide of refugees. Occasional warning shots were fired into the air to stop them.

UNCOMPLAINING sentry manning the United Nations' ceasefire line between Israel and Egypt in the Sinai Desert is this tin cans and rags creation made by Indonesian soldiers stationed there to keep the peace.

Hawks and doves remain divided on future role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Long-term Senate "hawks" and "doves" remain divided on the future U.S. role in the Vietnam war as Congress awaits President Ford's recommendations tonight.

In a replay of previous themes in debates over Southeast Asia, some senators who were active earlier in opposing U.S. involvement in Indochina now advocate limiting further aid for South Vietnam to humanitarian and rescue efforts.

By the same token, some of those who supported the U.S. war effort before American troops were withdrawn in 1973 appear generally willing to supply more arms aid to South Vietnam. Some would consider resumption of U.S. bombing and naval shelling.

However, one key supporter of the previous war effort, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., said he doubted more military aid would help.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, co-sponsor of a series of bills that ultimately cut off funds for U.S. military involvement in Indochina, said in an interview that "a strong president would recognize that a mistake has been made." He said that the United States should "accept the inevitable."

On the other side, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would support use of U.S. air power and sea power if Ford recommends it "based upon the combined judgment of the U.S. ambassador and the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Sen. James L. Buckley, Con.R.N.Y., said he would neither recommend nor rule out the use of U.S. bombers. "I would be willing to listen to that option," he said.

Both Thurmond and Buckley ruled out the use of U.S. troops to help the South Vietnamese defense effort. So did Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Goldwater said he would support — "for moral reasons, because it was promised" — sending more military equipment to South Vietnam, "but I don't think it will do any good."

Goldwater said Congress is not to blame, that all the blame goes to former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Goldwater said "simpletons in the Pentagon headed by McNamara" issued orders "not to try to win the war."

Goldwater said that when he ran for president in 1964, both he and President Johnson knew that victory in Vietnam would require increased effort.

"My answer to that was: 'Bomb the hell out of the North,'" Goldwater related. But he said U.S. forces, because of "complete civilian ineptitude," continued to be "prohibited by order, called rules of engagement, from defeating the enemy."

Goldwater said Ford should "ask the country to get together, put all this behind us, recognize the lessons, and start over."

Why choose Communist way?

By JOHN F. McMANUS
BELMONT, Mass.— "A completely free economy always produces too much and must have a million salesmen to find ways and places to move that abundance. The completely socialist economy under Communism always produces too little and must have a million ration clerks to divide what there is. Which do you choose?"

The man who in 1966 outlined the two alternatives listed above, and then asked the American people to choose one or the other, was John Birch Society leader Robert Welch. Unfortunately for our country, too few Americans even realized that such alternatives existed, either then or now. As a result, the choice of a socialist economy is being made for us, and, as predicted, it has led to "too little" production and an inevitable proliferation of ration clerks and bureaucrats.

The shortage of energy in our country may at present exist more in the headlines than in fact, but an actual shortage in the future is clearly foreseeable.

It will be the direct result of the accelerating strangulation of free enterprise by ever larger and more oppressive government. The following are a few examples of this strangulation:

—The Federal Power Commission's price ceiling on natural gas has discouraged exploration for new wells.

—Additional price controls have discouraged exploration for new oil deposits.

—Environmental Protection Agency decrees have denied access to Alaskan and offshore oil.

—Production of coal has been held back by government refusal to grant leases to mine it, by the awesome requirements of the Clean Air Act, and by artificially created fear of strip mining.

—Government interference has resulted in the cancellation or closing of over 100 nuclear power plants.

All this, of course, is socialism in action. But in the face of this looming crisis, America's leaders are prescribing "cures" which will eventually kill the patient.

Massive evidence shows that the government has caused the problem. But America's leaders are blaming the people for consuming too much, and not themselves for holding back production. President Ford wants to cut oil consumption by taxing oil imports; House Speaker Carl Albert wants rationing, gasless days, and excise taxes on large-horsepower autos; labor leader George Meany wants to nationalize the oil industry; Senator Edward Brooke of Massachusetts wants a 20-per-gallon gasoline tax; and Secretary of State Kissinger wants to curb petroleum use with taxes, import quotas, and tariffs.

Such proposals are standard fare in socialist and Communist countries where the "too little" must always be divided up by means of additional government action. In the process, government leaps merrily along toward total control of everything.

The American way to overcome a shortage is to produce more goods. What this country needs is less government interference, not more. Left to its own devices, American ingenuity and resourcefulness could do away with any shortage. But our leaders are not promoting the American way.

The choice being made for us is not final, however. We still have the capability to choose between the system under which free men produce plenty, and the system which leads to want, privation, and eventually to tyranny. Perhaps it is time to reverse the trend that has been established for us, by choosing new leaders who can be counted on to think and act like Americans.

Self help for hungry nations

By DON OAKLEY

Before many Americans give up meat and snacks to help feed the starving people of the world, the governments of those people are going to have to do more to help themselves.

One expert claims that enough food is unnecessarily lost in some countries to insects, rodents, plant diseases and wasteful distribution methods to feed half a billion people.

The United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization estimates that even in comparatively developed Latin America, 40 per cent of crop yields are lost.

According to another authority, Melvin B. Randle, up to 50 per cent of the food grown in developing countries is wasted between the time it leaves the farm and the time it reaches the consumer. Randle, a former official of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID), is president of a private firm that contracts with developing countries to teach them modern food distribution techniques.

Not only ignorance and primitive conditions but unstable governments, lack of consumer goods and politics must share the blame for low levels of agricultural productivity in many developing nations, charges yet another authority, Roy Bainer, emeritus dean of the College of Engineering of the University of California in Davis.

He cites Chile as an example of a country where political unrest has undone advances. "It's a shame to see the potential of this country—with most of the natural resources found in California—going to waste."

In Laos, says Bainer, AID assisted in building diversion dams to supply irrigation water to farmers, making it possible for them to produce twice as much rice on two hectares of land as had been produced on three—and then the farmers refused to grow rice on the third hectare.

Why? Because "the farmer's only concern was, and is, producing enough rice to meet the needs of his village. There is no incentive for him to produce surplus rice for sale because there is little he can purchase with the money."

With more consumer goods available, farmers might be encouraged to meet outside demands for rice. But then, in Laos, war has disrupted market possibilities.

Despite it all, Baine remains an optimist. "It is hard to believe that man's ingenuity has reached the end of the line. Certainly we have the brains to overcome the problems."

What seems to be lacking in too many countries is the will.

Communist terror in Ireland

(Reprinted from the Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader)

A most significant interview with Reverend Raymond Mason, just over from Belfast, Ireland, to be pastor of the Methodist Church in Enosburg Falls, Vermont, appeared recently in the St. Albans Daily Messenger. It was an important interview because Pastor Mason put his finger on the REAL cause of the trouble in Ireland.

It is not enmity between Catholics and Protestants; it is carefully contrived violence kept going by well-trained Communist cadres.

It always amazes this newspaper that more emphasis has not been placed on the role of the Communists in the murders and other tragedies that have been occurring in Ireland. To anyone who knows the way the Communists work, the signs of their hand in this evil have been so obvious.

Vessels have been captured trying to land Communist-made arms from Czechoslovakia and other Communist countries on the Ireland coast.

Then there is the other tactic of the Communists which those of us who know communism well recognize—and that is the old stunt of committing some terrible atrocity against the Catholics which infuriates them against the Protestants. Then as the quarrel is calming down, they kill some prominent Protestant person or some innocent Protestant child and blame it on the Catholics.

This stunt is as old as history itself but it still seems to work, unfortunately!

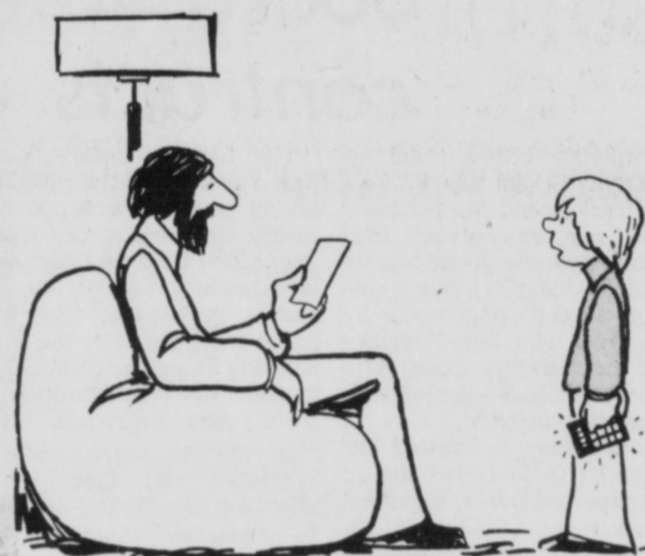

unfortunately!

The Western World, especially its leaders, have yet to accept the fact that whether it is Catholic and Protestant trouble in Northern Ireland, Jew and Moslem conflict in the Middle East, or revolutionaries in our own country, there you will find the Communists stirring up trouble and trying to get an advantage for themselves.

It is a theory of the Communists that average persons cannot stand up to a long drawn out program of atrocities and will become so terror-stricken that they will accept Communist conquest and government.

Pastor Mason has done a real service by speaking out as frankly as he has in revealing the Communist and Marxist power behind the turmoil in Northern Ireland.

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO

The Dixon High School track and tennis teams open their seasons on Thursday (weather permitting), with the thinclads invading Rock Falls and the netmen traveling to Sterling.

A lengthy discussion over an almost one-third increase in engineering costs on a county road project now under way highlighted the morning session of the regular monthly meeting of the Lee County Board of Supervisors.

50 YEARS AGO

The Sunday schools of Dixon city and township are making a special effort to increase their attendance. The effort is being promoted by every Sunday school through the District Sunday School Association.

The Older Boys' Conference of surrounding counties which started this afternoon at the Presbyterian Church has one of the largest enrollments of any boys conference held in Dixon.

Voice of the people

To the Editor:

I would like to go to Washington, D.C., to see President Ford in person, but my health and age are against me. I wish he would call me by telephone any night after 6 p.m. our time until 11 p.m. My telephone number is 815-539-9994. It is better to talk by phone. I have a platform written out that will put this country back on its feet in one year or less, the way I look at it now, and we all know there is a depression coming on now, and no one knows what to do to stop it.

If we get together with some guts, and use our heads, roll back everything to July 1, 1969 or 1959 better yet, and I mean everything. No exceptions for anyone. This can be done, and President Ford can do anything. If we were living before July 1, 1959 now, how nice it would be. Let's do it. Look at our prices today! How wild, such as government expenditures, loans, finances, bank rates, interest, steel, gasoline, groceries, automobiles, farm implements. All of these, everything, to be marked back to July 1, 1969 or 1959. There is only one man that can do it, that is President Ford. A lot of people don't realize what a depression means. A person has to be at the age of 55 to 60 years to understand the hardship involved, those born in the 1920's wouldn't remember. There is only one man that can save our country from a depression. If I were the president I'll guarantee it would be on the upward turn. Friends or no friends, in case of an emergency. If we get into a slump now in 1975, the President can stop it as I stated before.

If the President doesn't try and do something to stop this inflation, I will make a prediction he will never finish out his term. The vice president is waiting to jump in. If President Ford rolls prices back to '69 or '59, he will finish his term and more, but if he stays as he has, the vice president will get in, and the manufacturers and higher ups are with him.

Look at the automobile manufacturers, steel, etc., that put the raise on their products last fall. The automobile a $1,000, and now the Illinois suckers falling for the $200 to $500 rebate. Stop and think of how many suckers we have in Illinois it sure is a laugh.

If President Ford looses out on his job, it sure will hurt his wife's feelings, she doesn't want to get out of the White House, she has a lot of pride. What would we do without them? Just think! We will say if you make the move, your big money friends want you. A person must think of his wife and family or friends. The choice is yours, and if you do roll everything back you may have to put a ceiling on prices. Forget the friends, your family will stick with you to the end. If you go through with this, your name will go down in history as a wonderful man, or as one of the greatest. The wheels will be turning before you know it. We hope before Jan. 1, 1976, and everyone will be working again.

It takes a good platform for the foundation, United States of America, that is all of us. Stating again, roll everything back to July 1, 1969-1959, and again I say everything, starting with government spending, and everything that has been marked up, and listed as before, loans, interest, steel, and all the rest in the U.S.A., and a lot of other we do not know about, like fruit growers, fisheries, distilleries, tobacco growers, etc., and so many more we never head of Mr. Ford.

I want to repeat again, roll everything back that has been marked up like groceries, and all the others starting July 1, 1969-59. What is better for the country to handle this set-back, is to have a headquarters set up to handle so much traffic in every state under each governor. He then can report to Washington, D.C.

If everyone works together, people will be back to work in no time, then we can watch everyone pitch in before the end of 1975.

President Ford can say, "We made it!" This is the only way, the American way.

Sorry to say there is only one way back home, the other way I have no answer. Only depression.

Sincerely,
George Rapp

Art goes to the dogs

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Some people have long contended that modern art has gone to the dogs. Now they have proof.

Dogs in the Mississippi Valley around Rock Island have been invited to submit their creative works in a competition Sunday sponsored by the Quad-City Dog Obedience Club as a sideshow to a sanctioned dog show at the Rock Island County Fairground.

"We got the idea when Alexis Boyar, Afghan hound, won the $50 Valley Weaver's prize at the Mid-Mississippi Valley Show in Davenport last October," Judith Masat, the club president said.

"The art community was somewhat stunned when Alex's chewed mitten won the prize," she said, but most took it in good humor.

But, there was some bitterness, particularly from some of the more than 600 human artists who didn't get into the art show at all.

Iowa state Rep. Robert F. Bina, a multimedia specialist and art department head at Palmer Junior College in Davenport, has agreed to judge the works.

"I think the idea is great," he said from Des Moines, where he is attending his first session as a legislator.

Bina also is a trustee of the Davenport Municipal Art Gallery, where Alex's off-white mitten was exhibited locked under glass for the entire length of the Mid-Mississippi show.

"I'm sure many people who would never come to the art gallery came to see that mitten," Bina said. "I think it's just great and lots of fun. Some art does happen by accident anyway and that mitten was charming, but, no doubt, frustrating to those in the weaving arts."

For a 25-cent fee, entries will be accepted in these categories: Fiber, Warp and Woof (well-chewed scarves, sweaters and gloves); Rubber or Plastic Destruction (balls, hoses, over-shoes — with tooth fillings); Wood Wonders (chewed or clawed door panels and ball bats); and Metal Messes (mangled wire objects); and Found Objects — anything the dog drags home and "improves."

Bina said, just like in human art competitions, some dog owners are trying to influence the judge. One woman met him at a mental health hearing recently and hinted that her dog's media is nose tissue.

Alex's master, writer Julie McDonald, who masterminded the original hoax, said, "We won't know what works will be submitted until Sunday. But, there are rumors of a chewed bedspread and maybe a sofa or two."

"Alex, however, isn't going to submit a work," she said. "He says now that's he's won a blue ribbon against humans, he can't be bothered competing against dogs. But, he's agreed to help Bob Bina with the judging."

Alex is getting mail from other aspiring dogs. Mrs. McDonald said, "Petey" in Muscatine, Iowa, wrote that he has sculptured several screen doors. Petey said he is "working feverishly on a sofa and wondered if Alex knew of any other outlets for exhibition." Alex wrote back: "I wouldn't advise entering any human shows. They get sore."

... for and about women Town and Country Art Show award winners are announced

OREGON — The 1975 Town and Country Art Show, sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of Lee and Ogle Counties was held Sunday in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Oregon, when Phillip Detrick, professor of art at Rockford College, Rockford, served as jurist.

During the presentation of awards to the winning artists, Professor Detrick presented a critique on the show before an audience of 100 persons.

First-place blue ribbons were won by Gerald Mosher, Lee County, who submitted two entries in metal work, and Ogle County winners included Rose Fleming, collage; Rita Groth, oil; Lucille Stengel, original macrame; Dorothy Hollar, batik; Robert Stiles Jr., two photography entries; Craig Carpenter, ink and photographic etching; Jesse Manning, collage and photography; Linda Nurnmet, felt banner, and Howard Fox, wood marquetry.

A Lee County second-place winner was Rosemary Walker with a watercolor entry, and Ogle County winners of second place were Linda Nurnmet, felt banner; Allen Tannin, charcoal, entry; Jessie Hinkle, scratch board, and Donna Cornelius, rose maling.

Participants from Lee County winning honorable mention awards included John J. Asumendi with a triceratops entry, and Ogle County winners were Kathryn Watt, watercolor; Sherry Stremmel, oil; and William Truman, decoupage. Judith Lavelle, Whiteside County, won an honorable mention for her oil-collage entry.

The show's children's division included 19 entries submitted by residents of the Village of Progress, Oregon.

The show's opening Sunday in the church fellowship hall was followed by a tea, and the exhibit may be viewed this week from 2 to 5 p.m. daily when hostesses will be present.

All the blue-ribbon winners are eligible to enter the Regional Town and Country Art Show to be held June 22-28 on the campus of Northern Illinois University, DeKalb.

THE TOWN AND COUNTRY art show was held Sunday in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Oregon, and 71 entries were submitted by amateur artists residing in Lee and Ogle Counties. Professor Phillip Detrick (left), professor of art at Rockford College, served as jurist; Mrs. Jessie Hinkle, Oregon (center), acted as show chairman, and Mrs. Rose Fleming, Mt. Morris (right), was publicity chairman. The show was sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of Lee and Ogle Counties.

Dear Ann by Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am 77 and my wife is 60. We have always had a happy life together, despite 17 years difference in age.

About 10 years ago I was no longer able to function sexually. My wife was only 50 then, and I knew I wasn't being fair to her. She was not one to run around and chase men and although I did my best, I knew it wasn't good enough.

We have a mutual friend (unmarried) who is exactly my wife's age. I told her a few years ago that if she wanted to get together with him once every few weeks, it was all right with me. I like to play pool, so every other Tuesday night this friend comes for supper and stays a few hours while I go to the billiard parlor.

This arrangement suits the three of us fine. Nobody is getting talked about and we figure it is strictly our own business since no one is getting hurt and several people are getting helped. Wouldn't you say it's a sensible solution?

I realize that many women with impotent husbands either prowl the bars or go nuts. We think our way is better. Please comment.—Sensible In Texas

Dear Tex: Your solution is better than prowling the bars or going nuts, but if you believe in the Ten Commandments, surely you must be aware that one of them is being broken every other Tuesday night—in your own home.

Dear Ann Landers: May I give a word of advice to the men who, though they have wonderful wives they love and trust, still horse around with, hold hands with, hug and sweet-talk other gals—innocently.

My wife caught me dancing (with no music) in the office (after hours) with a secretary whose hands are on every man within reach. This woman meant nothing to me, but it was terribly upsetting to my wife. Now she wonders what else I've been up to.

That little bit of foolishness hurt my dear wife and destroyed the mutual trust and dignity that our marriage had enjoyed for 25 years.

Fellows, it isn't worth it. The girl wasn't worth the dirt under my wife's little foot.—Stupid In Florida

Dear Friend: You may be Stupid In Florida, but I'm not Ignorant In Illinois.

Men don't write like that. Women do. You are the wife. I'm printing your letter in spite of the duplicity because there's a message there. But please, honey, don't try to put your words in your husband's mouth.

Dear Ann Landers: I've seen many letters in your column about spoiled children but never have I heard of anything like this.

My 17-year-old stepdaughter is after her father to buy her a house.

She and I never got along. Now she says when she becomes of legal age (in a few months) she wants to move into a home of her own and her father should buy it for her. I've already told him that if he buys this kid a house I'm divorcing him. Now he says he will buy

US a house first (we're renting at present) and then he will buy her one.

I went back to work a few years ago so we would have some money for our old age. I can't bear to see him take the little nest-egg we have accumulated to buy a house for that pampered child. Your comments would be greatly appreciated.—Fed In Philly

Dear Fed: Your husband sounds as if he is carrying a load of guilt and he hopes the gift will make everything OK. I can't imagine what a house would do for a spoiled teen-ager except make it easy for her to get into a peck of trouble. I hope your husband regains consciousness soon.

Corinthian Shrine plans dinner-meeting

A ceremony will be conducted for remaining officers to be installed, and all officers are requested to wear formal attire.

Grange party

The Palmyra Grange will sponsor a card party at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Palmyra Grange Hall.

Mrs. Schwab to speak at Woman's Club breakfast

A "Prayer Breakfast" is planned by the Dixon Woman's Club for 9:30 a.m. Saturday in Loveland Community House when Mrs. Leonard Schwab, Rock Falls, will speak on "The Artist and the Picture," based on the career of Leonardo da Vinci and his painting of the "Last Supper."

A past president of the Rock Falls Woman's Club, Mrs. Schwab also served in several capacities on the 13th District executive board. She is active in Rock Falls civic projects, and she is a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Sterling.

Mrs. Schwab will speak on the life of da Vinci, and will display the Italian painter's work, the "Last Supper," as she discusses his reasons for doing the world-famous painting.

Next Tuesday, Mrs. Schwab and another member of the Rock Falls Woman's Club, Mrs. John Sumption, will be presented an award by the Freedom's Foundation at Valley Forge for a patriotic program they originated and staged. They were recommended for the award by Miss Esther Barton, Dixon, who will speak at the presentation.

Special music arranged by Mrs. Verne Johnson, club music chairman, will be presented by Jay Bollman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Bollman, Dixon, who will sing a medley of selections accompanied by his mother.

MRS. LEONARD SCHWAB

Jay, an eighth grade student at Lincoln Elementary School, is a member of school choral groups, and he sings with a choir at St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Appropriate music will be played during the "Prayer Breakfast" by Mrs. Johnson, pianist, and devotions will be presented by Mrs. Francis Geiger.

Serving as co-hostesses for the breakfast will be Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Alvah Drew Sr., Mrs. John McLennan and Mrs. Clarence Both.

Minnie Bell Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. Billie Baker, noble grand, presided at a recent meeting in IOOF Hall for Minnie Bell Rebekah Lodge when members were invited to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. April 28 in the Rock Falls Lodge Hall.

Officers of the Rebekah

Association's District Eight will be honored guests.

A note was read from the Rebekah State Assembly thanking members for a contribution to the Assembly "eye bank," and a communication from the Odd Fellows stated that a delegate had been selected for the 26th annual pilgrimage to the United Nations, and will be sponsored by the lodges.

Mrs. Baker was elected as delegate to the Northern Illinois Association of Oddfellows and Rebekahs meeting to be held June 14 in Marseilles, and a report on the "eye bank" was given by Mrs. Erma Roberts, chairman of the lodge trustees.

Plans were also made for an approaching salad luncheon and card party, and District Eight Odd Fellows and their wives will be entertained at the next meeting April 17.

A district meeting for the Rebekah Association is scheduled for 12:30 Friday in Sterling, and attending will be officers of the Rebekah State Assembly.

The meeting was followed by a social hour when refreshments were served by Mrs. Patsy Klenz and Miss Evelyn Roberts.

MISS KIM BURTNES

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burtness, Orfordville, Wis., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kim, to David Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Johnson, Dixon.

Miss Burtness, a 1971 graduate of Parkview High School, Orfordville, will receive a degree in May at Northern Illinois University, De Kalb, where she is majoring in vocal music education.

A 1969 graduate of Dixon High School, Mr. Johnson earned a degree in electrical engineering technology in 1973 at NIU, and is presently employed by the Arnold Engineering Company in Marengo.

Their wedding is being planned for June 7 in the Orfordville Lutheran Church.

Beauty tips for spring

In applying make-up the first thing you should learn is how color can help you. Dark make-up colors will minimize a poor feature and make it less noticeable and 'light make-up' will draw attention to your good features and play them up.

Spring is floaty, fluttery, a fashion land of softness and light; things like ruffles, lace, subtle see-throughs feminine, pleasing and pretty to the eye.

Spring calls for a comfortable but controlled silhouette that's wearable, layers that diversify, distinctive looks that are sensible, not just showpieces looking for the limelight. Classic quality is important as well as design.

Food for Americans

A tasty tuna pate loaf

By AILEEN CLAIRE
Pates make elegant tidbits for family and guests to snack on while waiting for some special dish to emerge from the kitchen. With prices still remaining high one can have his pate and pay for it, too. A classic example is a Tuna Pate Loaf which has the added zest of dry mustard and dill weed. There will be some who will enjoy turning this into a very different sandwich. Make ahead and chill thoroughly before serving with thinly sliced French bread.

TUNA PATE LOAF

- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 cups soft bread crumbs (6 slices bread)
- 1 small onion, quartered
- 2-3rds cup parsley leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 4 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil

In container of electric blender, place eggs, milk and bread crumbs or use rotary beater. Let stand 15 minutes. Add onion, parsley, salt, dry mustard, pepper, dill weed and lemon juice. Cover and process at high speed until smooth. Remove cover and gradually add tuna, continuing to process until smooth. Pour into greased

Tuna pate for entertaining.

7 1/2 x 3 3/4 x 2 1/4-inch loaf pan. Bake in 375 degree oven 45 minutes. Remove from pan and chill. Cut into slices and serve with thinly sliced French bread. Makes 12 appetizer servings.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Lancelot, the peerless knight and bridge player, looked at his collection of aces, kings and queens with almost as much awe as if he had found the Holy Grail. Then he looked over at Dinadan, his partner, and decided he had better make sure to play notrump if the hand worked out that way. He opened five notrump.

Dinadan wasn't sure what that bid meant but he thought his king of spades justified a raise to six.

West opened the queen of spades. Lancelot won with his ace in order to keep dummy's one entry alive. Then he cashed his top red cards. East discarded a couple of small spades.

Now came the top clubs. West had to throw the 10 of spades in order to hang on to his red jacks. Now Lancelot led his last club, the deuce. West had to make another discard. It had to be his last spade. He could not spare a red jack.

Lancelot was now able to discard dummy's king of spades. East won with the jack of clubs and had to lead a spade. Lancelot's nine and seven had become a winning tenace over East's eight and six.

Restore old trunk with tender care

By JEAN BARNES
"Refinishing a trunk is hard work," declared Fran Thompson. She and Carol Gawthrop owned and operated Treasure Trunks for more than seven years, specializing in restoring and refinishing a wide variety of these nostalgia-laden relics. When asked, they eagerly consented to share their knowledge and the fruits of their experience with Today's Treasures readers. And, even though it is hard work they both agree that a beginner can do a creditable job by exercising care and patience.

"Be sure you start with a trunk that is in good condition" was their first bit of advice. "Leave the restoration to the expert. Don't try to replace a bottom or missing tin."

Each part of the exterior must be handled separately, they said. The first step is to remove the handles. Be sure and keep the handles and the hardware in a safe place so you will have them when the time comes to put them back on.

Tighten any loose hardware — hinges, lock, strap guides. If hardware or ornaments are missing from the front or sides, they may be replaced with identical pieces from the back of the trunk where it won't be seen when set against a wall.

Most large trunks are either tin or canvas-covered. If tin, nail down any loose edges or corners. Clean with a wire brush to remove loose paint and rust. Don't try to replace worn or torn canvas. Instead, our experts recommend that you use a single edge razor blade to cut away the canvas. Cut closely along the edge of the wooden or metal slats. There will be wood underneath the canvas which can then be refinished or antiqued.

"Don't remove the slats (the strips of wood or metal reinforcement) or you're liable to have the whole trunk fall apart," they warned. If the slats have been painted strip the paint and sand until smooth.

Now you're ready to tackle the inside. To clean the interior and get rid of the musty odor most trunks have, you will have to scrape off all the old paper, they explained. This involved more than tearing off what's loose. You will have to use a paint scraper and take it down to the bare wood.

A combination of vinegar and hot water usually will cut the glue under the paper and also helps to dispel the odor. When the interior is clean, set the trunk with lid open to air in the sun. This should get rid of the last vestiges of mustiness. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Delicious dinner for company

MENU
Baked Chicken Rice
Green Peas Salad
Margaret Ray's Lemon Pie

PERFECT LEMON PIE
Chockful of a chiffon filling that's on the tart side.

1 envelope plus 1½ teaspoons unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
8 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
10-inch baked pie shell, see below
8 ounce container heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Soften gelatin in water. Beat egg yolks and ¾ cup sugar until ivory color; beat in lemon juice and salt. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thickened; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into lemon mixture. Turn into pie shell and chill. (Chill any filling you can't pile into shell in a dessert dish as an extra portion.) Before serving, whip cream, adding remaining ¼ cup sugar and the vanilla, until stiff as a topping for pie.

Pie Shell: Lightly cut 3 tablespoons butter and 3 tablespoons vegetable shortening or lard into 1 cup sifted flour and ¼ teaspoon salt; make a well in the center. Add ¼ teaspoon lemon juice and 3 tablespoons (about) ice water and stir with a fork to make a moderately stiff dough. Roll out thin and fit into a 10-inch pie pan, moistening rim and "hooking" pastry to rim so it won't shrink. Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven until golden — 12 to 15 minutes. Cool before filling.

Polly's Pointers

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how to keep a cotton chenille bedspread from "linting" all over the place. This spread was bought as being lint free. — FRANCES.

DEAR FRANCES — If your spread is new it may be all right after that first lint is off. Wash such a spread by hand to prevent the tufts from coming out, hang on the line with right sides together so the tufts rub together to fluff up and shake several times during the drying period to remove any excess lint. When dry, LIGHTLY brush with a whisk broom to remove any more excess lint. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those people who tear recipes out of magazines in waiting rooms. More than once I have started to read an article that is continued on another page. When I turn to it I find the page gone. These magazine rippers should carry a pad and pencil to copy the recipes they want. — BEVERLY.

Polly's note: Beverly, I think some of the worst such offenders are in beauty shops.

DEAR POLLY — Children's shoes are so expensive. I would like to pass on my answer to the problem of keeping the soles in good repair. Do you remember the tire patches used during the second World War? I buy a good tire repair kit from an auto supply store and apply these patches to renew children's shoe soles and a hole in the sole of an adult's shoe during this recession. For 35 cents I made the thin sole on one of my own shoes as good as new and it will last many more months. I hope thousands of those expensive children's shoes will give additional wear because of my Patches Pointer. — JEAN.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those who have difficulty swallowing pills, especially large ones. They would cling to the sides of my throat, burn and choke me until I came up with the idea of coating a pill with butter or margarine and then using a small glass of milk to wash it down. Water would not do the trick. What a relief as the pills now slip down easily and no longer burn. I have arthritis and have to take many pills and find this works like a charm. I only hope it helps someone else as much as it has helped me. — VIOLA.

DEAR POLLY — Anyone with rough heels will get far more wear out of their hose and panty hose if footlets are worn next to the feet under the hose. — PAULINE. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Walker partly justified, says auditor's report

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — An Auditor General's report concludes Gov. Daniel Walker was at least partly justified in continuing operation of four agencies removed from the state budget by the Illinois General Assembly.

Auditor General Robert G. Cronson said Wednesday several laws and executive orders require the state to provide the services performed by the agencies.

However, Cronson said Walker clearly violated the intent of the legislature by keeping the agencies alive.

Cronson's report to the Legislative Audit Commission recommended that when the General Assembly decides not to provide money for a state agency it also repeal the law setting up that agency and requiring it to perform some function.

Walker's counsel, William Goldberg, made the same point Monday in testimony before the commission.

But the auditor general also contended Walker exceeded his constitutional powers to reorganize state agencies by giving part of the duties of the Governor's Office of Human Resources to the Office of the Budget.

About $2 million requested for operation of the Illinois Information Service, Office of Collective Bargaining, Office of Special Investigations and Governor's Office of Human Resources was cut from the budget in the closing days of the 1974 legislative session.

Some legislators contended Walker was using the agencies for political purposes.

Following the General Assembly action, Walker vowed to keep the agencies alive. He said other areas of government that relied on the services of the four agencies would provide funds to keep them going.

He argued that state law and executive orders required him to provide such things as employee bargaining, investigation of official corruption, public information and the development of human resources.

Cronson's report said: "The continuing activities of these agencies have been justified in part by the existence of substantive authority for their operations in statute and executive order." It added: "Although the continuation of the activities of these agencies was contrary to legislative intent, existing controls in the state system of authorization and payment of expenditures were inadequate to prevent this continuation."

Cronson also recommended legislation tightening General Assembly control over creation and reorganization of state agencies, and laws giving the legislature greater assurance that employees paid by a particular department or agency actually work there.

Bill to aid elderly nears final passage

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A long-debated cash grant plan for the elderly stood at the final passage stage today in the Illinois General Assembly.

The House moved the bill to final passage Wednesday, and today it could be passed, sent back to the Senate for its approval of House changes, and shipped off to Gov. Daniel Walker for his signature.

The governor received an almost identical bill in December, but vetoed it in January because he said the state could not afford the estimated maximum $34 million cost.

The bill would set up a schedule of annual cash grants ranging from $50 to $99.99 to be made to persons 65 or older with household incomes of less than $10,000.

Representatives of various senior citizens groups have testified that the grant could mean "an extra loaf of bread or another prescription" for elderly persons on fixed income.

Meanwhile, proposed legislation to permit branch banking, which for years has split the Illinois banking community, was laid to rest Wednesday in the Senate.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Philip Rock, D-Chicago, failed to muster the 30 votes he needed for the Senate to overturn the action last month of the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee voted 7 to 6 against the bill. But under Senate rules, if a majority of the 59-member chamber wants to consider a bill it can do so despite the committee action.

Rock's motion received 25 votes.

"The responsibility was placed in the 13 members of that committee," said committee chairman Sen. Robert McCarthy, D-Decatur, who had voted against the measure.

"Each and every member of the committee was present for all deliberations."

Illinois is one of a few states that prohibits banks from opening branches. Rock's bill would have allowed banks to open a limited number of branches in the same county or within 25 miles of the home office.

While both houses held floor sessions, several thousand persons representing various labor groups and an organization favoring the proposed Equal Rights Amendment demonstrated at the Capitol.

The ERA coalition was seeking ratification of the proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution which would bar discrimination by sex.

How to tap a great tradition.

It's an unexpected pleasure.

State's reserves are declining, says Dixon

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Treasurer Alan J. Dixon says increased spending by the state has reduced the amount available for investment by nearly $200 million.

"The state's reserves are rapidly declining. As a fiscal conservative, I am very concerned about our financial position," Dixon told a news conference Wednesday.

The treasurer said he invested $261 million in interest-bearing accounts with banks in every county on April 1. He said that in April 1974 he had $451 million to invest.

Under state law, the treasurer is responsible for investing money in the treasury not immediately needed for the payment of salaries or bills.

Dixon said his staff estimated that Sept. 1, the next date for deposits into Illinois banks, the state would have only $100 million to invest, compared with $371 million last year.

Dixon, treasurer since 1970, is widely believed to be interested in running for governor in the 1976 Democratic primary, although he has said he has no current plans to run.

Gov. Daniel Walker, a likely candidate for re-election, has been criticized in recent weeks for his proposed "rainy day" fiscal 1976 budget, which calls for spending every cent available in the state's general revenue fund.

Banner year for small car sales in U.S.

DETROIT (AP) — The 1975 model year will go down in automotive history as the year when Americans and big cars parted ways.

When September comes and the numbers are tabulated, industry executives say small cars — compacts, subcompacts and most imports — will account for more than half of total U.S. sales.

That would be the first time small cars have outsold the large land cruisers since auto companies began classifying cars by size more than 25 years ago.

"There's no question 1975 is the turning point," said one company analyst. "This is the year of the small car. It will never come back the other way."

Ford Motor Co. president Lee A. Iacocca sees further growth for small cars just around the bend. He says, "If you want to put a number on it, smalls will average out at over 60 per cent (of the market) late in the 1970s."

That's a tremendous turnaround for small cars, which in 1949 accounted for only two per cent of industry sales and only three per cent as recently as 1958.

The strength of small cars in recent months has been particularly dramatic. Spurred by cash rebates lavished on their segment, small cars grabbed a record 62 per cent of the market in February. Last month, small cars captured 54 per cent of total sales, with low-priced leftover 1974 imports leading the way.

"It's not that Americans don't like big cars any more," says one company analyst. "It's just that fuel and price have become more important than size. If we could sell an intermediate for $3,000 the great majority of people would buy one and forget small cars."

Another analyst adds: "The energy crisis last year got people thinking about nothing but higher gasoline prices, fuel economy and small cars. Then comes along the recession. Everyone becomes price-conscious. So people turn again to small cars."

A spokesman for Ford says changing social values also helped deflate the big car boom.

"In the early 1900s a car was a rich man's plaything. By the 1950s, it became a basic and necessary mode of transportation, but it still was a big status symbol. Now with fuel shortages and recession coming down on your head, a car has become a careful, practical purchase."

The relative size of cars has changed as well. Detroit kept building larger standard cars over the years, claiming that's what the public wanted. The result is that today's "small" compact is the size of the "big" car of the 1950s, which makes it easier for the companies to sell small cars to people who drove family sedans 20 years ago.

But as inflation forced car prices up, Americans were starting to buy a second, usually smaller, family car.

In 1959, as more imports landed on America's shores, the small car segment jumped to 13 per cent, and the following year Detroit made its move by introducing the first modern era of the American small car. By 1960, small cars captured 27 per cent of the market.

Detroit continued to introduce new, small models in the 1960s. Even so, small cars still were held to about a quarter of the market until 1970, when imports, capitalizing on another inflationary cycle in the United States, logged record sales with models that were priced hundreds of dollars below what Detroit had to offer.

Although devaluation of the dollar in 1971 raised import prices and nipped the foreign car invasion in the bud, the U.S. companies had responded quickly with a new generation of subcompact cars.

The Mideast oil embargo in the fall of 1973 accelerated the switch to small cars, which took a record 54 per cent share of the market in January 1974 before settling down with a 46 per cent share for the entire model year.

Head Start program in Dixon this summer

A Head Start program for children whose parents are of limited income will be offered in the Dixon community this summer. The program is jointly sponsored by the Tri-County Opportunities Council and the local public elementary schools. Merrill Hughes of the Dixon Public Schools will coordinate the project.

Parents living in the Dixon community interested in enrolling their pre-kindergarten or pre-first grade children in this program should contact the Dixon Public Schools, phone: 284-7722 (ext. 10 or 21).

Head Start is a nationwide project offering pre-school children from economically and culturally disadvantaged backgrounds, and their families, the education, medical and dental care, nutritional training and social services they need.

Ten per cent of the children can be enrolled without regard to family income, and this group enrolled will be done upon recommendation of school personnel.

This year Head Start will enroll children who suffer some type of handicap. Tri-County has applied for additional funding for equipment and training materials as it relates to the handicapped child.

Since 1967 some 1,200 children have been enrolled in Summer Head Start from the areas of Lee, Ogle and Whiteside Counties.

Persons interested in applying for positions within the summer program such as:

Head Start director, teachers, teacher aides, cooks, head nurse and nurse's aide should contact Hughes at the Dixon Public Schools office.

The teachers, teacher aides and cook will be screened and hired by the school official. Schools will refer applicants for the Head Start director, head nurse and nurse's aide to Tri-County Opportunities Council. These positions will be filled upon recommendation of the Summer Head Start Parent Advisory Council and the Tri-County staff.

Interested volunteers are also invited to contact Hughes. No special training is required for volunteers. Volunteer help is welcome for one day or for several days.

Patricia Lemmer of the Tri-County Opportunities Council will again this year assume the duties as the parent coordinator.

Sauk hosts workshop on oral interpretation

Student teams representing nine Illinois colleges and universities participated in the annual conference of the Illinois Interpretation Workshop hosted on Friday and Saturday by Sauk Valley College.

Jerry Mathis, associate professor of speech and Oral Interpretation coach at SVC, said the workshop allowed students an opportunity to explore a particular body of literature in performances. The theme of this year's activity centered on the work of winners of the Nobel Prize for Literature.

Mathis said the program format allowed each participating school to present a half-hour performance. The oral presentation was then followed by a half-hour critique and discussion.

The program provided by SVC students explored the poetry of two Chilean Nobel Prize winners — Gabriela Mistral and Pablo Neruda. Mathis said it focused on several levels of the maternal spirit of Mistral, including her role in inspiring Neruda, as well as Neruda's concept of a poetry reflecting his personal dreams and his country's destiny, as opposed to critics of his form.

Mathis said that to retain the flavor and attitude of the language in which the poems originated, several poems were performed totally in the Spanish and Spanish lines and verses interspersed others. In keeping with this spirit, there were costumes and a background of guitar music.

The program was developed and directed by Mathis. The cast included: Kris Murray, Sterling, as Mistral; Ramon Gonzalez, Sterling, as Neruda; and chorus members Randy Burgess, Rock Falls; Bob Smith, Rock Falls; Mimi Sandeen, Rock Falls; Tom Quigley, Sterling; Cathy Schmuckie, Dixon; Ginger Smith, Polo; and guitarist Rick Zigler, Sterling.

The guest critic for the workshop was Dr. Elizabeth Worrell, professor emeritus of speech at Northeast Missouri State University. Besides having teaching and speaking experiences, Dr. Worrell is the author of "Readers Theatre and the Short Story" in Oral Interpretation and the Teaching of English and "The Unspoken Word" in Studies in Interpretation. Dr. Worrell critiqued each student performance and herself offered a reading from Aleksandri Solzhenitsyn.

SVC is the only two-year college that took part in the workshop. Other institutions sending teams were the University of Illinois, Illinois State University, Northern Illinois University, North Park College, Northwestern University, Eastern Illinois University, Northeastern Illinois University and Western Illinois University.

Food sanitation class popular at Kishwaukee

MALTA— Do you know the best way to clean a glass that had orange juice in it; or how to clean a glass which held milk; cheese and eggs?

How hot should the water be for washing plates with cheese and eggs left on them? 160 degrees?

"You'll be cooking, not cleaning at 160 degrees," said Robert Johnson of Economics Lab. "It'll be clean, free of bacteria, but it won't look good."

Johnson, representing a commercial firm which markets various cleaning agents discussed the abilities of several types of cleaners and which to use for what job, the best ways to remove food particles from utensils and equipment and how to keep the equipment in good shape.

He was one of several guest speakers brought in by Dorothy Rossing, instructor for Kishwaukee College's Food Sanitation class. Mrs. Rossing is the Food Sanitarian for the DeKalb County Health Department.

Other guest speakers have included Andy Thorburn and John Colman of the Northern Illinois University Residence Hall Food Service, dietitian Lois Colman of the DeKalb County Home and Bill Satterfield of the Illinois Department of Public Health.

The course, first offered this spring, was instituted to meet the needs of tighter enforcement of the county's inspection procedure of food establishments.

Albert Morgan of the County School, Sycamore, said, "It's been beneficial in the added knowledge it's given us. Yes it's been worthwhile attending."

This class will be offered again in the fall. With more than 225 food establishments in the Kishwaukee College area, one class has only touched the surface of reaching food establishment personnel.

Besides discussion on proper cleaning of equipment and utensils, other class topics included background material on bacteriology; food-borne illnesses; preparation, holding and display of food; personal hygiene practices of employees; insect and rodent control; housekeeping practices; and legal aspects.

One student is using the course to give him further background in the restaurant business he hopes to enter in Rockford.

"I'm currently working at the Junction in DeKalb," said David Kleopser of DeKalb. "When I saw this course was being offered, I decided to take it. I figured it would be good for me to take it, since I plan to go into the restaurant business. It really has helped me. It's opened up my eyes to the problems in the restaurant business. As a manager, I will need to know how to deal with these problems."

Drive against cancer outlined by doctor

ROCHELLE— More than 53 million Americans alive today will eventually have cancer.

Can we estimate with any degree of accuracy which persons will be stricken and with what type of cancer? If so, could lives be saved because of early detection and prompt treatment run into additional thousands?

The American Cancer Society says yes, according to Dr. Juanito E. Delfinado, professional education chairman of the Ogle County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

"We believe that with present knowledge more than 100,000 of the 350,000 who will die annually can be saved. Moreover, the American Cancer Society has identified several high-risk groups—that is, people subject to various cancers—and has taken steps to develop data that could be applied to cancer control," Dr. Delfinado said.

"Thus, the ACS slogan, 'We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime,' is on the beam although a definite timetable is not feasible," he declared.

"There are several features in the profile of both the male and female at highest risk of lung cancer," Delfinado said. They are 55 to 65 years old; have smoked two or more packs daily and began in their early or late teens. The man's chances of death from lung cancer are about 15 to 20 times greater than for his non-smoking counterpart and are 5 to 10 times greater for the woman. The most likely candidate among American women for breast cancer is obese, age 40 to 44 or over 60, and has never had children; or if a mother, had her first child after she was 30. She has frequently had benign breast lumps and her mother or sisters had breast cancer.

Studies indicate that the profile for cancer of the cervix, or neck of the womb, might be a woman 50 to 70, non-white, immigrant of low-income background, has borne children, had a history of early and frequent sexual intercourse with a number of partners. She also has never had a Pap test or regular health check-ups.

For cancer of the endometrium, or body of the womb, the likely candidate is 50 to 65, had a late menopause, postmenopausal bleeding, is obese, tends toward high blood pressure and has a history of diabetes.

Other cancers lend themselves to high-risk definition such as bladder cancer which has a relation to cigarette smoking. There is also some causal relationship between chemicals such as vinyl chloride and those in the dye and printing industries, asbestos and several types of cancer.

Several of these are already under intense epidemiological study by the ACS in cooperation with unions and industry groups. These studies are headed by Drs. E. Cuyler Hammond of the ACS and Irving J. Selikoff of Mount Sinai Medical School in New York. Dr. Delfinado concluded that "if an intense effort is made to assemble this knowledge and apply it, a major share of the 100,000 deaths due to late diagnosis could be averted and additional thousands of those in the 'inevitable' mortality category might well never occur because of preventive measures based on identifying and eliminating environmental hazards."

Drawings on exhibit

An exhibit of the drawings of Greg Steele, Morrison, an art student at Sauk Valley College, is on display and will remain open for public view in Room 2K2 at the college through April 25.

Robert Matter, assistant professor of art at SVC, said the exhibit includes 29 of Steele's recent drawings executed in frottage and mixed media. The exhibit is open to the public free of charge on weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. until April 25.

A graduate of Morrison High School, Steele attended SVC during the 1966-67 academic year and has also studied at the college since the spring of 1974. Steele, a graduate from Art Instructor Schools in 1969, worked as a commercial artist for Bowden Bros. Advertising Agency from 1969-72. He is now employed as an artist at the General Electric Company in Morrison.

Warren Walder

Warren E. Walder, completing his first term as mayor of Dixon, is seeking re-election to a second four year term.

A lifelong resident of Dixon, Walder has served on the Dixon School Board and as its president. He was chairman of the committee which organized the Sauk Valley College District and later served on the college's board of trustees.

During his first term he was elected president of the Northern Illinois Mayor's Association.

Walder lives at 503 Bradshaw St. He is 51 years old. He and his wife, Theo, are the parents of two children, Kirk and Lori, who are both attending college.

Walder's issued the following platform:

"The City of Dixon is fortunate to have persons in leadership positions that are willing to make decisions to move forward and generally suggest changes when they are needed. The easiest way to avoid controversy is to do nothing. No one knows that better than persons who advocate changes.

"This might be a good time to review some of the things that have taken place in the past four years. Contracts amounting to over $800,000 were completed for street and sewer improvements. Over six miles of streets and sewers were improved. This amount does not include considerable sums budgeted for repair and maintenance.

"This summer the city has budgeted $650,000 for renovation of the Peoria Avenue Bridge and $180,000 for the North Court Street paving project.

This is in addition to regularly planned maintenance and does not include normal sidewalk and curb repair or patching. Over $75,000 has been allocated for surface water control in the city's southeast area which is in addition to the work already accomplished.

"The city administration has been a great influence in the attracting of new industries in our community. Four years ago, Lee County was the only county north of Springfield to have an unemployment rate high enough to qualify it for an emergency unemployment grant. Today the situation has been reversed and Dixon has one of the lowest unemployment rates in the state. No county in northern Illinois has a lower rate of unemployment as of March 27, 1975. In the last four years ten new industries have moved to Dixon offering job opportunities to our residents.

"No tax increases over which the city administration has any control have been levied in the last four years. Even though all expenses have risen dramatically, city government has held the line on additional taxes.

"During the past four years our residents have been provided with a first class emergency vehicle service at no cost to the user and without the levy of an additional tax. This is a fine example of your government working with its citizens, in this case the Jaycees, to the benefit of all our residents.

Agreements with the Dixon Rural Fire Protection District have provided better, more efficient ambulance and fire protection for all of our residents.

Arthur Tofte

Arthur M. Tofte, present commissioner of public health and safety, has served three terms in that capacity.

The Dixon native attended schools here and later served in the Navy during World War II. He is employed in the mechanical division at Dixon State School.

The candidate and his wife, Lorraine, live at 611 Assembly Place. They are the parents of a son, George, at home, and Arthur III, who is married. They have two grandchildren.

Tofte is a member of the Elks Lodge, the Masons and the American Legion. He is a past president of the Memorial Association and a past member of the Dixon Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce.

Tofte says of his candidacy: "I am sure that the people of Dixon know how I stand on the issues at hand. I haven't changed my mind on these issues.

"If I am re-elected commissioner, I will continue to go to the people on all major issues and vote their convictions. I will continue to welcome your calls and letters on issues that are important to you and to the City of Dixon."

Jim G. Burke

Jim G. Burke is completing eight years on the Dixon City Council, all as commissioner of streets and public improvements.

Burke says: "In my eight years on the city council it has been my philosophy to give the best possible service while operating within the budgets.

"I believe we have reached these goals each year. We have a liberal garbage collection policy of taking any refuse item that will fit in the truck hopper plus the regular spring and fall pickup.

"Our snow removal is swift and efficient. We start salting as soon as the snow starts falling and we begin plowing when two inches of snow has accumulated. Weather permitting, we have a daily street sweeping program with the city broken down into zones.

"In the area of street maintenance and patching we use on the average of 300 tons of bituminous mix and 1,000 tons of road rock yearly. Obviously, much needs to be done as far as resurfacing and replacing our streets, however, we are on an organized budgeted eight year street program on a pay as we go basis without raising taxes.

"We receive thousands of calls a year for service running from picking up a dead rabbit in the street to picking up brush at the curb. This is our job and we have tried to respond to every reasonable request. I feel honored to have our citizens elect me to the city council twice.

"Furthermore, with your cooperation, and the help of my wife, Lucy, the job is much easier than it could be."

The Burkes live at 314 Steele Ave., and are the parents of four children. The 37-year-old candidate has lived in Dixon since childhood and was educated in Dixon schools.

He operates Burke Real Estate, is president of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce and a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

James Dishman

James Dishman feels his seven years as commissioner of public property for the city of Dixon qualify him for re-election to the City Council.

Of his candidacy he says: "My platform is:

"I believe we must find a solution to our downtown situation, not just maintain the status quo but improve it.

"We must also work at improving housing and zoning, streets and drainage areas, city services and buildings so that our growth serves all of our citizens.

"I am seeking re-election for I feel my experience and knowledge gained over the past seven years as a member of the Council, together with my own views, would be helpful in finding solutions to these and other problems and to contribute to the expansion and development of the city."

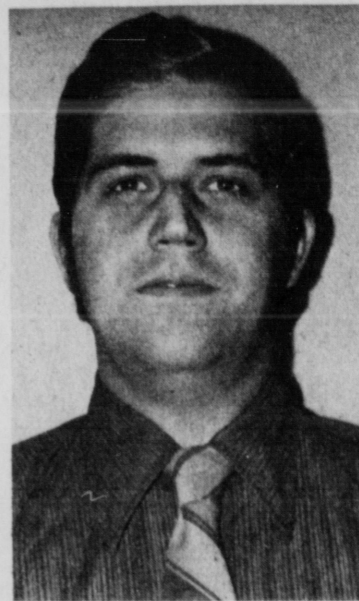

Dishman has been a Dixon resident for 27 years. He was educated in schools at Belvidere.

He is employed as a body and fender repairman at C. Baumann Volkswagen, where he has worked for 24 years.

He and his wife, Lois, reside at 703 Sixth Ave. They are the

WARREN E. WALDER

WILLIAM L. NAYLOR

"For over 50 years in each election one of the campaign issues was the restoration of the southside river bank. A November, 1924, issue of The Telegraph stated that the City Council was then starting action to clear up the south bank. This council got the job done.

"Four years ago the city opened its new sanitary landfill operating under permit number one issued by the Environmental Protection Agency. In 1974 the operation of this facility was transferred to a private corporation with substantial dollar savings to our taxpayer. A fair estimate of the money saved would be between 50,000 and 100,000 dollars annually. This was accomplished with no loss of service to our residents.

"1974 saw the beginning of the downtown renovation project. Peoples Park, The First Christian Church and Kreim's Furniture are examples of what we would like to accomplish. The recent purchase of the Snow-Beanblossom parking lot will now allow the city to go ahead and resurface and beautify this deteriorated property. Further beautification of the river bank is already underway.

"We have a clean, safe community. One of which we can all be proud. Our people are our greatest asset, for a city is not made of bricks and stone but of people. Some of the things that we do not have that most of our neighbors do are: no utility tax, no sewer use tax, no garbage pickup fee, no vehicle tax, no special district tax, no ambulance tax or no municipal utility providing revenue to the general fund and being exempt from taxes levied against private corporations.

"The present city officials are interested in their community. They want orderly growth which will be good for all its residents, not just a particular segment."

William Naylor

William L. Naylor, who finished second to Mayor Warren E. Walder in the Feb. 25 primary in Dixon, claims the endorsement of the Dixon Building and Construction Trades Council.

Naylor says of his candidacy: "I am running for mayor of Dixon because I feel that it is time for a change. The views of the citizens of Dixon have too long been overlooked.

"We are asked our opinion, and then the administration goes ahead and does what they please no matter what the citizens, who are the taxpayers and supporters of this city, say. If elected, I would ask every citizen to actively voice their opinion and listen to them.

"My goals if elected are to: "1— See that our streets are improved. Our cars are literally being shaken apart by the deplorable condition our streets have slipped into.

"2— Provide a systematic plan to eliminate the severe flooding conditions that exist in our city.

"3— Step up efforts to join the city and rural fire departments, with a department on each side of the river, to provide the fastest service possible to citizens in an emergency.

"4— Remodel the present City Hall. A new City Hall would only serve to make the existing downtown area look worse. You might say like a rose in a patch of thorns. If we remodel the present City Hall we can show the businesses what can be done to old buildings to look good again. Some of our businesses have put forth the effort to improve their buildings and maybe with the incentive of a remodeled City Hall the rest of them will take the initiative to remodel theirs. We have been asking them to fix up their stores and if we can't even fix up our own City Hall we are going against our own advice, so why should they listen to us. Also, building a new City Hall would leave the old one empty to deteriorate further. We already have enough empty buildings in this town.

"5— Carefully watch and try to control all city expenditures. I can appreciate the "tax bind" we all face.

"There are 9,728 registered voters in the City of Dixon, as of October, 1974. Of these, 1,765 voted in the primary election. I hope to see more concerned citizens voting on April 15, no matter who you vote for. It is a right we should use."

Naylor was born and raised in Dixon and attended the Dixon Public Schools. He is general manager of Stewart Truck and Equipment Co., a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, the Knights of Columbus and the Dixon Moose Lodge. He resides at 413 S. Ottawa Ave. with his wife, Gerrie, and two daughters, Lori, 7, and Cindy, 1½.

neers. He is a member of the Elks Lodge.

"There have been times in the past when I realized an engineer on the city council could have offered constructive advice," he says. "I feel the need will be even greater in the future. With my many years of experience on construction, materials, contractor and supplier relationship, I feel I can offer to the people of Dixon very valuable and much needed expertise and guidance in the running of our city government.

"Our streets are very rough, full of chuck holes and fast approaching the point where something must be done to them or they will be beyond the repairable stage. Sidewalks and curbs are in just as deplorable a condition. These should receive top priority!

"Just what do I know about solving these problems? I have been working on city related problems since I was 21 years of age and am 51 years of age now. That is 30 years of experience, something no one on the council or a candidate for the council can offer.

"There are many new and interesting ideas and products entering the market each year pertaining to city government and many of them are in the engineering field and a few of them could be of help to Dixon. There is a new blacktop mixture that could be used to resurface our streets; it uses local materials, less energy to produce and does not track asphalt all over the floors and carpets. The ladies will love this!

"The City of Princeton, is using this mixture, so should Dixon. This is just one example of where I can be of help to the City of Dixon, there are others.

"I want Dixon to have the best it can afford for each tax dollar and I believe with my training and experience I can do it better than any of the other candidates."

Henry Osback

Henry K. Osback feels an engineer's approach to the City Council's problems has long been needed.

The candidate says his 30 years of engineering experience, 25 with the Illinois Department of Transportation, can be useful.

He has lived in Dixon 24 years and is a member of St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Osback serves as chapter representative for the Rock River Chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engi-

Rich Arnould

Rich Arnould, commissioner candidate, says he is seeking a seat on the Dixon City Council for two reasons. Citizens urged him to run, he says, and he feels it is time for a change.

"My platform is repairing the streets of Dixon which are in a horrible condition. The streets have been neglected for so long it will take a long time and lots of money to get them in good condition again.

"There should be something done about the flooding in the southeast and west sections of town.

"I would like to see more one-cent parking meters in the downtown area.

"I don't want to see East First Street closed for the construction of the proposed clinic at KSB Hospital. Either an underground tunnel or an overhead passageway connecting the two buildings could be used. It is hard enough to get to the hospital the way conditions are now.

"I was against the building of the new city garage at the present location and tried to make this known, but to no avail. When a new city garage could have been built on Monroe Ave., for approximately $100,000, I don't think the city should have spent $265,000 plus — for a garage at the location they selected. Also I do not think it is right that five city employees drive five city trucks for over two weeks hauling fill dirt about three miles to the new city garage. In doing this, they beat union people out

Thomas Densmore

The basic reason Thomas Densmore is seeking election to the City Council is that he feels he is qualified and has the necessary time to devote to the job to make him effective.

He says he is committed to groups and individuals in Dixon who currently receive no attention from city government.

"I am outrightly opposed to the expenditure of funds for building a new City Hall in Dixon. After looking at the existing facility, I would agree that something needs to be done—but in my estimation remodeling would be sufficient. A good City Hall is made of men, not bricks or concrete. These hundreds of thousands of dollars could be spent to benefit a majority of Dixonites rather than the few who actually enter City Hall," he explains.

"Some of Dixon's more pressing problems I view are: 1. A very non-appealing business district; 2. Poor streets, curbing, and sidewalks; 3. A type of city government that allows for the mayor and all commissioners to live on the same block; 4. Parking meters; 5. Public transportation for the elderly; and 6. Limiting the mayor to two terms in office.

Three to be elected to SVC Board Saturday

Three candidates will be elected Saturday to the Sauk Valley College Board of Trustees. A total of seven candidates have filed for election.

Voting hours Saturday will be from noon to 7 p.m. Balloting within the Dixon School District will be at the six elementary schools. In area towns, voters will vote at the regular precinct in which they vote on school board elections.

Accompanying on this page are pictures of six of the candidates along with the views on the issues of all seven.

W. VENTLY CARTER

W. Vently Carter is a student at Sauk Valley College and as such claims he is aware of the vast needs of area people concerning college needs.

The Dixon man decided to seek election to a three-year term because of his belief that it is the best way of getting to the base of all needs and problems at Sauk.

Carter, 2302 W. First St., says a major concern at the college is the question of adopting a football program. In a poll of area residents, Carter says he found few people who believe the college can support a football team. "I believe we should use the money allotted for football in educational programs that would benefit a greater number of people."

He put his support behind the furtherance of career-minded programs for the student who does not continue his college education beyond the junior college level.

Speaking of future changes at Sauk, Carter suggested a massive enrollment drive and use of facilities to their fullest extent to get the most out of every tax dollar.

DONALD J. DINGES

Appointed to the Sauk Valley College Board in February, Donald J. Dinges is seeking election to a one-year term to fill a vacancy on the board. A Sublette native, Dinges says he favors expansion of Sauk's present Outreach program into the various communities within the college district.

Of his candidacy, Dinges says "I feel that board should be made up of members from throughout the district and I would like to represent the southern portion of Lee County." He called on veterans to take advantage of available benefits to further their education at Sauk.

Dinges, 39, is president of Farmer's State Bank in Sublette and is vice chairman of the Lee County Public Building Commission. He also serves as vice chairman of the Community Resource Development Committee and assistant chief of the Sublette Volunteer Fire Department.

He and his wife, Donna, have three children and are members of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church. He holds memberships in various banking organizations as well as the Knights of Columbus, Mendota Elks Lodge, Sublette Community Club and the Catholic Order of Foresters.

BARRY BENNETT

A former Lee County Sheriff's Deputy and U.S. Navy veteran, Barry Bennett, is seeking election to a three-year term on the Sauk Valley College Board. Bennett is a student at Sauk, enrolled in the pre-veterinarian program.

He claims more work is needed on the college's outreach program, citing people in Ashton who were unaware they were in the Sauk district.

Bennett supports increased funding to the college veteran's office for advertisement of veteran's eligibility to attend Sauk. Bennett cited increased revenues from enrolled veterans which brought in nearly $350,000 income to the school during the past fiscal year. "New veterans enrolled in the school means added income and money for the veterans," he says.

He also calls for reform in the school counselor's office, coordinating student plans to transfer Sauk credits to another college. "I think it's up to the board to insure that taxpayers' money is spent soundly on projects that won't be a losing venture," Bennett said. Bennett lives at 1311 W. Sixth St.

JAY WOLFE

Grand Detour resident Jay Wolfe, 31, has filed for one of two three-year seats on the Sauk Valley College Board. A graduate of Western Illinois University, Wolfe additionally attended Sauk, graduating in the class of 1969.

Because of his familiarity with the college, Wolfe feels he is aware of the goals of the school "and I intend to keep it on its present course of good education at a reasonable cost," he says.

Wolfe said he favors expansion of vocational offerings at Sauk along with continued efforts to go to the different areas of the district with extension classes. "The future of higher education is in the junior colleges and in the technical fields they can offer."

The candidate vowed to travel to each area within the district to meet with people and discuss their college-related problems and answer any questions they may have.

Wolfe is a veteran of four years in the U.S. Air Force. His wife, Earlene, is a teacher in the Dixon School District. Wolfe is employed by United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., Dixon.

WILLIAM JUDD

William Judd, 34, a Chadwick resident of Carroll County, newly annexed to Sauk Valley College, is seeking election to a one-year term on the SVC Board.

Judd has been employed by Nabisco for the past 11 years as a sales representative and is a veteran.

Serving on the Student-Faculty Long-Range Planning Committee, Judd attends Sauk in the evenings.

Judd said he is vitally concerned with the wants and needs of the night student at Sauk. "These students deserve a complete education, not to kenism... they need a curriculum fully consistent with the demands on today's labor market... it is high time the evening student stop subsidizing the daytime student," Judd said. He added that one-third of the student population is made up of evening students.

Judd also called on the administration at Sauk to more fully utilize a college-based computer for schedules, information and payroll, now being done by hand. "Were these functions placed on computer it would allow administrative personnel to spend their days in much more productive work," Judd said.

He additionally called for the creation of an administrative and instructional evaluation mechanism to monitor levels of both.

Judd is a past committee chairman of cub scouts in Chadwick.

LORNA KEEFER

Lorna Keefer was appointed to the Sauk Valley College Board in February to fill the vacancy left with the resignation of Henry Kobbeman and is seeking election to a three-year term on the board.

Mrs. Keefer, rural Polo, says she believes the board is doing a fine job of recognizing and serving the educational needs of the community. "But the college can do an even better job of recognizing these needs by using the advisory committees more effectively."

She calls for a continued effort and expansion of courses offered, particularly in the area of vocational education and community service courses.

The former Polo teacher is the mother of two children. Mrs. Keefer has a bachelor of arts degree from Augustana College, Rock Island, as well as additional college credits.

She is an active member of Polo United Methodist Church, currently serving as education work area chairman, and served as an area director of the Ogle County Cancer Society for five years.

WILLIAM REIGLE

Incumbent board member William Reigle has served on the Sauk Valley College Board since 1970 and is seeking re-election to a three-year term.

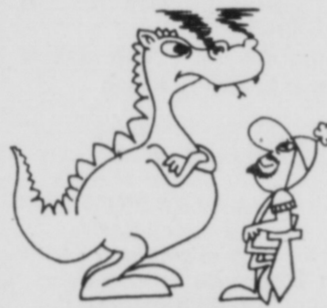

Reigle, 1128 N. Jefferson Ave., Dixon, feels the college has progressed "and will continue to change to meet the ever-changing needs of our community."

Speaking of past accomplishments, the Dixon National Bank assistant vice president said "We have seen the vocational-technical and community service programs expand and offer courses in all parts of our district and the veterans of our district are taking excellent advantage of the facilities and will continue to play an important part in the future of Sauk."

Reigle says he feels a board of trustees should be willing to approve new ideas and concepts "if they are well planned and economically sound... at the same time we must realize that we have to maintain a comprehensive program that is financially sound and operate it within our means of support."

Reigle is a Dixon native and graduate of Dixon High School, attending Illinois State University. He served as president of the Dixon Lions Club, Dixon Petunia Festival and Lee County Bankers Federation. The father of three, Reigle and his wife, Mary, are members of Grace United Methodist Church.

STERLING—The Sauk Valley Redmen successfully opened their 1975 Arrowhead Conference tennis season with a 3-0 victory over Black Hawk East at the Westwood Tennis Complex, here, Wednesday.

Jim Weed defeated East's Jerry Staple 6-0, 6-0 at number one singles and Randy Paisley duplicated the 6-0, 6-0 count over Mike Rinella at number two. In doubles action Sauk's Tim Huyett and Mike Kane downed Mitch Winn and Jim Pearson 6-2, 6-2 to complete the sweep.

The win ups the Sauk Valley season slate to 5-0 with the Redmen hosting an Arrowhead triangular today at Westwood. Sauk will take on Kishwaukee and then meet Carl Sandburg.

Love gets 38 as Bulls win

CHICAGO (AP) — "We give each other the blues whenever we match up, but I got them the worst this time."

That was Nate Archibald of Kansas City-Omaha speaking softly after being held to 12 points by Chicago's Norm Van Lier as the Bulls outlasted the Kings 95-89 in their National Basketball Association playoff opener here Wednesday night.

The best-of-7 series now moves to Kansas City for the second game Sunday afternoon.

Even though Van Lier, scoring 20 points himself, hounded Archibald to far below his regular season average of 26.5, the Bulls had difficulty wrapping up a game that several times seemed on the verge of a run-away.

The Bulls enjoyed a 14-point lead much of the first half, but cooled off in the second half when the Kings nearly closed the gap before a Chicago Stadium crowd of 15,433.

It took a 38-point performance by Bob Love, matching his playoff record high, and clutch scoring in the final 1:23 by Love and Van Lier to sew up the first opening-game playoff victory in Bull history after the Kings had pulled to within two points at 89-87.

Love's 16th basket of the contest and a pair of Van Lier free throws finally salted it away with 12 seconds left.

Love, starting his hot night with 14 points in the first quarter, said "I was moving well, hitting my shots and also moving well without the ball. Then, too, I was getting some great passes from everyone."

With Archibald handcuffed, Kings' scoring honors went to Larry McNeill with 22 points, including 10-for-10 at the free throw line.

Three playoff games are on tap tonight with a pair of wild card teams on the verge of extinction.

The once mighty New York Knicks host the Houston Rockets in game two of their best-of-three series. Houston took the opener Tuesday night 99-84 and a victory tonight would propel the Rockets into the Eastern Conference semifinals against the Boston Celtics.

The Detroit Pistons entertain Bill Russell's upstart Seattle club. The SuperSonics handled the Pistons with surprising ease Tuesday night 90-77 in what Russell termed "out best defensive effort of the season."

A victory tonight advances the Sonics into the Western Conference semis against the Golden State Warriors.

Tonight's other game finds the Buffalo Braves in Washington against the Bullets in the opening game of their best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal series.

Spirits even playoffs 1-1

By BOB GREENE

AP Sports Writer

Marvin Barnes says he's a seasoned pro now, although he was named the American Basketball Association's Rookie of the Year today.

"There was a time when I was just playing for myself," Barnes said Wednesday after leading the Spirits of St. Louis to a convincing 115-97 playoff victory over the New York Nets, evening their best-of-seven playoff series at 1-1.

Barnes put on a scoring display while another St. Louis rookie, Maurice Lucas, demonstrated how defense should be played. Barnes finished with 35 points, high for the game, while Barnes' hero, the Nets' Julius Erving, was held to just six points by Lucas.

Lucas, who skipped his senior year at Marquette to sign with St. Louis, also sparked on the boards, grabbing 21 rebounds, including 12 in the second period when New York got a total of four rebounds.

Barnes scored 14 points, including 12 in a row, as the Spirits exploded to a 22-12 lead, then continued to increase their advantage until 1:09 remained in the third period when they led by 29 points, 87-59. It was the Spirits' first victory over New York in 13 games this season.

Guard Freddie Lewis added 26 points to the Spirits' total while Larry Kenon paced the Nets with 28.

In the only other ABA playoff game Wednesday, rookie Moses Malone scored 30 points and hauled down 33 rebounds, lifting the Utah Stars over the Denver Nuggets 122-108. Denver leads the best-of-seven series 2-1 with the fourth game set for Salt Lake City Friday.

The 6-foot-11 Malone, who signed with Utah after graduating from high school last year, received offensive support from Ron Boone and Randy Denton, who scored 25 and 22 points, respectively.

Leading the Denver charge were Bobby Jones, Mack Calvin and Dave Robisch, who scored 17 points apiece.

Sauk athletes honored

Four Sauk Valley College students have been chosen to appear in the 1975 edition of "Outstanding College Athletes of America." Athletic Director Frank Palumbo said the four are: Thomas Zinnari, Rock Falls; Brenda Larson, Princeton; Jim Weed, Dixon, and Mary Cavanaugh, Polo.

Announcement of the selection was made recently by the Board of Advisors of "Outstanding College Athletes of America," an annual awards volume published to honor America's finest college athletes.

Athletic directors and sports information directors from colleges and universities across the nation selected the winning athletes on the basis of their abilities—not only in athletics but in community services and campus activities as well.

Criteria for those selected includes leadership, service, scholarship and for outstanding athletic achievement. In congratulating the outstanding college athletes of America in 1973, sports commentator Don Meredith said, "their enthusiasm and high ideals hold bright promise for the future."

The complete biographies and records of achievement of these students will be featured in the annual awards volume.

ty, I will bet you $500 I was 30 strokes better than Miller — maybe as much as 40 — in the four majors last year," Player said. "I feel that the best judge of a player is how he does in the four big championships. That's how history will judge us all."

The informal comment in the players' dining room after Wednesday's final day of practice sent researchers thumbing through the record books and, sure enough, Player would have won his bet.

Based on performances in the U. S. and British Opens, the Masters and PGA, which represent the Grand Slam, the intense part-time farmer from Johannesburg was 39 strokes better than Miller, six better than Nicklaus.

"Actually, I would have preferred Player's record over that of Miller last year because Gary won two majors," Nicklaus said. "But you must remember that Miller was just trying to establish himself on the tour, and he did."

Miller won eight U. S. tour titles and a ninth in Japan, leading the money winning list with $353,021 and gaining Player of the Year honors. Besides the Masters, Player won the British Open and the Danny Thomas tournament at Memphis.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Outfielders Roger Freed and Hal King, now with the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association, have been sold to the Mexican League, the Cincinnati Reds announced Wednesday.

Freed, 28, cut in spring training, will go to Monterrey, and King will go to Pueblo, the Reds said.

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League have signed defensive tackle Garrett Hunsperger, formerly with the British Columbia Lions, to a three-year contract.

The Argos picked up Hunsperger on waivers after the Lions released him following a British Columbia Supreme Court decision in February ordering the lineman to pay $16,500 in an assault case. Hunsperger now is on bail pending the appeal of a two-month jail sentence on two charges of assault causing bodily harm arising out of incidents in British Columbia last spring.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Hanratty, who spent most of last football season on the bench behind Terry Bradshaw and Joe Gilliam, says he has asked the National Football League club to trade him.

"I've had a good relationship here for six years, but they know my feelings," Hanratty said Wednesday.

Hanratty threw only 26 passes all of last season, and he said he wants to play.

What if the Steelers' won't trade him? "I really haven't thought that far in advance," Hanratty said.

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Hull of the Winnipeg Jets was named Player of the Year in the World Hockey Association for the 1974-75 season by the Hockey News.

The weekly publication, in announcing its annual awards today, selected Sandy Hucul of the Phoenix Roadrunners as the WHA Coach of the Year. Bill Hunter, vice president and general manager of the Edmonton Oilers, was chosen as the league's Executive of the Year.

The award-winners are picked by the publication's editorial staff.

BOSTON (AP) — Ion Tiriac, the 36-year-old Romanian who coached the Boston Lobsters to a second-place finish in the Atlantic Section of the Eastern Division of World Team Tennis last year, will be the player-coach of this year's Boston franchise.

The Lobsters were voted out of the league last February, but five Boston businessmen purchased the franchise of the Philadelphia Freedoms and moved the club to the Bay State. The team is as yet unnamed.

Wootten's players are prime targets

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Morgan Wootten of DeMatha High School in suburban Hyattsville, Md., has compiled a record most any coach would envy: 514 wins against 75 losses over the past 19 years.

One of those wins—in 1965—broke the 71-game victory streak of Lew Alcindor's Power Memorial team and put the entire squad in the basketball Hall of Fame.

It's another record that Wootten is most proud of: every graduating senior he has coached in the last 14 years has received a college scholarship. Two of his most recent products are Kenny Carr of North Carolina State and Adrian Dantley, an All-American at Notre Dame.

All of which makes Wootten and his players prime targets for the high-pressure recruiting world of college basketball.

Because of his great success, Wootten has come to know the college recruiting game very well.

"All the coaches know me and what I stand for," he told The Associated Press. "They know I have certain rules, and if they violate them, they're no longer welcome around here."

Over the years, Wootten has set guidelines which he hopes his players will follow and which recruiters must abide by if they want to maintain their welcome at DeMatha.

"Every coach or assistant coach must come through me," he said. "I will introduce any coach to any boy. If the boy is interested in his school, I will tell the coach. I tell the coach the boy will telephone him at the boy's convenience."

"I tell the boys not to give anyone their telephone number, address or scholastic record initially. We don't want the boys to be hounded by recruiters."

"I also tell the boys to make up their own guidelines on what they want out of a school. They should decide what they want academically, the type of basketball they want to play, the school's schedule and whether they want to stay close to home or go away. I tell them to look at more than one school."

"And finally, I tell them never to commit themselves to a coach when they visit a campus. It's almost impossible for a 17 or 18 year old to tell a college coach, 'No.' But I tell them there is plenty of time after they have visited other campuses to make a decision."

Wootten says more and more high school coaches are acting as a buffer between their athletes and the high-powered recruiters.

"I get more and more calls and letters from coaches asking me how I handle the situation," he said. "It is especially noticeable from coaches who have their first real good boy and they just don't know what to do about the barrage (from recruiters)."

Recruiters began chasing the cream of this year's high school crop three years ago. And no one drew more attention than Bill Cartwright, the high school senior of 1975 who was sought after by college coaches everywhere and longed for by the pros.

Cartwright, a seven-footer, averaged some 37 points and 23 rebounds a game.

To keep the pursuers away, Cartwright's parents and his Elk Grove, Calif., High School coach, Dan Risley, developed a defense similar to Wootten's—strict rules about when and how long recruiters could visit. The overwhelming pressure began to build anyway, so on Jan.

29 Cartwright made an early commitment to play for San Francisco.

At Gorton High School in Yonkers, N.Y., coach John Volpe said he has handled about 95 per cent of the colleges that want to talk to Bernie Toone, a 6-foot-8 All-American forward.

"Most send a letter first and then set up an appointment," he said. "We have three to five scouts at every game and I'd say about 200 schools have been in contact with him, all of them through me."

Volpe said when a school wants to see Toone, an appointment is arranged. "Only when he has no classes, either before school or during a free period. I sit in with the coach or scout and Bernie for awhile, and then I leave them alone. Ultimately, the decision will be the boy's. He will decide at the end of May."

Fred Pennington, the coach of another scholastic superstar, Darryl Dawkins of Orlando, Fla., Evans High School, asked his star pupil to narrow down the field of some 300 schools which had expressed an interest in him to 12 or 15. The final list came to six.

Pennington told the losers to forget Dawkins and imposed guidelines on the finalists—no contact with Dawkins after Oct. 14, no telephone calls to the coach or the player and no recruiters at practice.

He also notified the NCAA of the guidelines and warned the schools they would be struck from the list if they violated the rules, which remained in effect until the season ended.

Despite the safeguards, Wootten tells of colleges that violate his regulations although he won't give names. He also says there are schools which violate NCAA rules.

Once, he said, the day before an important DeMatha game near the end of the season, a college coach told him he would like to see two of his boys, who were close friends.

"I told him he could see one of them but the other one was not to be bothered because he had not been feeling well," said Wootten.

"The next day, the boy came to school and looked terrible. He told me his buddy and the coach had come by his house and persuaded him to go out to dinner. They stayed out late. Well, I told that coach he wasn't welcome at DeMatha anymore."

Wootten also said there are coaches who offer the boys money, clothing and cars. But he said it usually backfires on them.

"One of the boys had his selection narrowed down to two schools," he said. "An (illegal) offer was made by the school to which he was leaning. He changed his mind just like that and chose the other."

"Maybe, one of these days, the recruiters will learn."

Sox bounce back

OAKLAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox are all even with the Oakland A's after taking on the world champions' one-two pitching punch of Vida Blue and Ken Holtzman.

"I'd have to say that puts us in pretty good shape," Manager Chuck Tanner said before sending veteran Stan Bahnsen out to face Oakland's 20-year-old rookie starter Mike Norris in today's final game of the season-opening series.

Blue beat Chicago in the season opener Tuesday night but the Sox bounced back Wednesday night for a 7-5 victory.

Chicago trailed 5-1 after Jim Kaat served a grand slam home run to Gene Tenace in the third inning, but Tanner's club started a comeback against Holtzman in the eighth inning and ended it in the ninth against the A's third reliever, Rollie Fingers.

The A's were one out away from a 5-4 victory when Manager Alvin Dark told Fingers, who had retired the first two batters he faced, to intentionally walk .714 hitter Ken Henderson, putting runners on first and second base.

"I'd do the same thing again if I had to make the decision, because of the way Henderson's been hitting," Dark said.

Tanner then substituted Pat Kelly for designated hitter Deron Johnson, and Kelly got his second pinch hit in two nights, a triple off Reggie Jackson's glove in right center field which scored the tying and go-ahead runs. Carlos May then drove home an insurance run with his fourth hit of the night, a double which was Chicago's 15th hit of the game.

"I don't want to break pinch hitting records this year. I hope to be in the starting lineup before too long," said Kelly, who had off-season arm surgery.

Errors give Twins 3-2 victory

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The Texas Rangers, Manager Billy Martin's pick to dethrone the Oakland A's as baseball champions of the American League West, are going about it in strange ways ... like rally-killing baserunning, costly errors and, most of all, losing.

The Rangers made it two batters in a row when they bowed to the Minnesota Twins, 3-2 Wednesday night. Elsewhere in the AL, the Chicago White Sox rallied for three runs in the ninth inning and defeated the A's 7-5, the Kansas City Royals edged the California Angels 7-6 on Hal McRae's RBI single in the ninth and the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Boston Red Sox 7-4.

Minnesota capitalized on two Texas throwing errors and Tony Oliva's second home run in as many games in edging the Rangers, who had a 10-3 record last April but are 0-2 in 1975. "I guess you can say we're off to a slower start," said pitcher Jim Bibby.

Eric Soderholm's sacrifice fly in the second inning and Oliva's homer in the fourth gave Minnesota a 2-0 lead. The Twins scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth. Soderholm singled with two out, stole second and continued to third on catcher Jim Sundberg's wild throw. Steve Braun followed with a routine grounder back to the mound but Bibby threw wildly to first, and Soderholm scored.

Royals 7, Angels 6

McRae drove in the winning run with his fourth hit, a run-scoring single with two out in the ninth inning, and then threw out the potential tying run at the plate in the bottom of the ninth.

Amos Otis drew a one-out walk from reliever Chuck Dobson, stole second and continued to third on a wild throw. Otis held as Mickey Scott retired John Mayberry on a grounder, but McRae, who had two singles, a double and a home run, greeted Orlando Pena with a single.

Brewers 7, Red Sox 4

George Scott and Robin Yount drove in two runs apiece for Milwaukee. Scott gave the Brewers the lead in the third inning with a two-run single off loser Bill Lee and Milwaukee raked Lee for three more runs in the fourth on Sixto Lezcano's doubles, singles by Darrell Porter, Pedro Garcia and Yount and Bob Coluccio's sacrifice fly.

Yount drove in another run with a sacrifice fly in the sixth. Meanwhile, Pete Broberg allowed only four hits in his first start for Milwaukee until he tired in the seventh.

National League

Bob Forsch has a pretty good baseball job. When he's doing it right, a full day's work only takes one hour and 58 minutes.

That's all the time the St. Louis Cardinals' right-hander needed Wednesday to dispatch the Montreal Expos 4-0 with a two-hit battery.

"Everything felt real good," said Forsch, who faced the minimum of 27 batters. "I felt just as strong at the end as I did at the beginning."

Both the hits that Forsch allowed were erased on double plays. Thus the 6-foot-4, 200-pounder was able to keep from working up a sweat in his first start of the year.

In the other National League games, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 and the Houston Astros crushed the Atlanta Braves 14-2. The San Diego Padres' season opener against the San Francisco Giants was rained out for the second day in a row.

Forsch, extending his winning streak to five games over two seasons, allowed just one hit to the Expos in the first six innings, an infield single by Barry Foote. Gary Carter then hit into a double play.

Reds 4, Dodgers 3

Darrel Chaney and Dave Concepcion lashed run-scoring singles in the ninth inning off reliever ace Mike Marshall to lead Cincinnati to its second straight victory over Los Angeles, the defending National League champion.

Down 3-0 at one point, the Reds rallied with a run in the sixth on a double by Ed Armbrister and a single by Joe Morgan, then scored again in the seventh on a sacrifice fly by Chaney.

Astros 14, Braves 2

Cliff Johnson and pitcher James Rodney Richard each knocked in two runs in a sixrun fourth inning and the Astros struck for eight more runs in the seventh en route to an easy triumph over Atlanta.

The Doctor Says:

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB—My doctor tells me I have mitral stenosis. I am on medicine, and he said if it didn't work I would have to have valve surgery.

Would you explain some of the discomfort my condition causes? My heart gets out of rhythm. Sometimes I can cough and it gets back to normal. When I have a bad spell I get short of breath, nauseated and my heart is irregular and fast at the same time. I feel tired most of the time.

I'm 35 and the mother of two active young boys. That takes a lot of get up and go. So far I am able to do my housework, but that is all I can do.

DEAR READER—The big valve between the upper and lower heart chambers on the left side is the mitral valve. The blood returning from the lungs is loaded with oxygen and is stored in the upper heart chamber, the left atrium. Then it flows through the mitral valve into the lower chamber, the muscular left ventricle that pumps all the blood to all the body except the lungs.

When that valve between the two chambers is scarred and starts to close its opening, the condition is called mitral stenosis. The valve opening can get very small before a person has any symptoms at all. When it gets too small it limits the amount of blood that can flow through the heart.

The result is that when you exercise or need to deliver more oxygen by pumping more blood through the heart you simply can't do it. Your body tires easily because you cannot increase the supply of oxygen to the cells. The oxygen is necessary to metabolize your food to release the food energy. So, you have a limit on how much energy your body can produce. No wonder you run out of energy then and feel tired easily.

This same problem is true of any heart condition that limits how much blood the heart can pump. When you limit oxygen delivery you cause fatigue.

The obstruction causes the blood to accumulate in the lungs. This in turn causes fluid to accumulate in the air sacs and causes shortness of breath, coughing and other symptoms.

Medicines are given to attempt to control the rhythm of the heart and make it more efficient. When medical management doesn't relieve the condition and the valve opening is really quite small, then valve surgery must be considered. Many surgeons do this procedure regularly and have an enormous amount of experience with this particular operation. It was one of the first successful heart operations ever performed to correct an abnormality within the heart.

Whether a person should have surgery or not depends entirely on how small that valve is and how much trouble it is causing. Many patients return to normal life after successful surgery.

Special tests that help to measure the size of the opening and the function of the heart are often necessary to make a good decision.

WHAT A BUYERS MARKET THIS IS!

In all probability, we've now hit bottom on the prices of many of the things you want to buy. Consider some of the facts:

- Right now, product inventories in most categories are extremely high. In many instances this is causing manufacturers and dealers to lower prices considerably. Automobile dealers today, for example, have record-high stocks of new cars and trucks. So they're ready to "deal" like never before.
- Trade-in values are way up. In the automobile business, trade-in allowances on used vehicles are at record highs. So you can save even more on new cars and trucks.
- Inflation is slowing down, but it will still add dollars to automobiles and any major items you decide to buy in the future rather than now.

BUYING TODAY, COULD BE YOUR BEST WAY TO SAVE

Anti-American sentiment builds in Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — "The Americans appear to be great humanitarians. They give temporary aid, but ultimately they think only of themselves," the former government minister said. "We in Cambodia have been seduced and abandoned."

Resentment against the United States is mounting among Phnom Penh's political elite. It is being stoked by a growing feeling that the U.S. Congress will turn down further military aid to Cambodia and that its delay on the vote is a parting act of cruelty.

The domino theory is not a debating point here in higher political circles. It is accepted as an undeniable law.

Government leaders insist that if the United States deserts Cambodia, all of Southeast Asia will go Communist. They argue U.S. honor will be spoiled and Asian allies may well side with the Communist regime in China rather than believe the bankrupt word of the Americans.

But there is little evidence of anti-Americanism among those who do not hear the latest news from Washington. Frontline soldiers and Phnom Penh's average citizens say they cannot believe there may soon be no American bullets for their rifles or rice for their bowls.

Americans are regarded as being on "their side," such loyalties are simply not severed in their insular world.

"I don't think America will let us die," one young soldier on Phnom Penh's southern defense line says.

Among Phnom Penh's major groups, only the students have called for an end to U.S. aid, saying it prolongs the agony of war. Unlike South Vietnam, where an undercurrent of anti-Americanism has existed for years, there have been no overt acts of hostility reported against Americans in areas of Cambodia still controlled by the government.

Many government leaders see American policy in Cambodia as oddly ineffective and any U.S. withdrawal of aid as pure betrayal. A composite attitude gathered from numerous interviews runs this way:

—The United States supported the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, and its troops invaded the country in 1970 to protect U.S. soldiers and hasten their withdrawal from South Vietnam. The United States also bound itself to the Phnom Penh government through vast monetary aid and — until August 1973 — by air support.

—Americans have obviously interfered in internal Cambodian affairs, but they failed to exert the pressure needed to force out useless and corrupt generals and inert leaders, including President Lon Nol. By their almost schizophrenic approach the Americans are in large part responsible for the near collapse of the Phnom Penh government.

If you work together, you can insure together...for less.

For economy-conscious businessmen, Metropolitan has a Joint Life policy whereby two partners can be insured under one contract.

The premium is appreciably less than that for two whole life policies because you are paying for only one death benefit.

Other advantages — the surviving partner gets working funds he can use to settle resulting financial burdens and assure continuation of the business... and, if under age 70 he is insured himself for another three months; he can also purchase a new policy without medical examination.

These are only some of the sense-making features of Metropolitan's Joint Life policy. Just give me a call to get the full story.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE D-628: Flora D., aged 38, proves the superb value of the daily newspaper as a constructive educational medium.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I have a 15-year-old daughter who is a sophomore in high school."

"Her teacher urged her class to read your daily Quiz Column in our Times-Union here in Jacksonville, Fla."

"And my daughter became intrigued with your usual Sunday matching problems where you list the names of five famous Bible characters at the left."

"Then you run short descriptive phrases pertaining to them in the right hand column and ask the readers to match each hero or heroine with the appropriate description."

"You caught her fancy by teasing the reader's interest by asking, 'Which man lost his life because he got a haircut: DAVID, NOAH, SAMSON, PETER?'"

"Or you'd inquire, 'Which lost his life because he didn't get a haircut?'"

"Or you might run a question as to, 'Who was the hot rod driver of the Bible?' or, 'Which Bible woman started the Women's Lib movement?'"

"Well, Dr. Crane, my daughter pestered me to tell her the full Bible account, for you listed the Bible references where you gave the correct answers."

"But my family had never been religious when I was a child and neither my husband nor I were church goers."

"So we had never had a Bible in our homes for at least the past two generations."

"But my daughter's persistent demands finally caused me to go to a bookstore here in Jacksonville and purchase a Bible."

"She thus became a regular Bible reader and finally joined a Sunday School class of other teen-agers who attend a neighboring church."

"One day she invited me to the church mother-daughter banquet, where I got acquainted with some very friendly women."

"Later, our daughter coaxed her daddy to bring me to see her perform in a church play, and he was cordially welcomed by several of the other fathers of the neighborhood."

"Well, Dr. Crane, we have all joined the church, where we are active and very happy to be harnessing our lives in constructive religious activity."

"So the daily newspapers really wield a very constructive influence on America, despite the fact some people criticize them as unduly stressing crime and other sensational evidences of delinquency."

"Maybe many other readers have told you of the help your columns have been in stopping divorce or reducing parent-child friction and even school dropouts."

"But I can add our three votes to prove the specific value of the newspaper in thus supporting happy homes and church idealism!"

University-in-Print
Your newspaper is literally a local "University-in-Print," which is why I transferred my teaching from the university classrooms at Northwestern University, to become a "faculty member" of hundreds of newspapers!

Remember, after the age of 18, most Americans leave the formal classroom forever, yet rely on the printed page for education during their remaining 52 adult years!

Send for my booklet "How to Stimulate Bible Reading," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, for it contains 135 "teaser" Bible problems.
